On October 29, the coasts of New Jersey and New York were devastated by Hurricane Sandy, claiming over 100 lives and impacting the lives of millions.

The Humanity First Disaster Response Team is serving many of the hardest hit communities, including Staten Island, Lower Manhattan, Queens, Long Island, and the Jersey shore. Humanity First is collaborating with FEMA, Homeland Security of Indiana, American Red Cross, local authorities and other agencies to fulfill needs of the affected populations.

MAJOR ACTIVITIES
» Serving thousands of hot meals
» Delivering tons of supplies, food, water to homes of elderly
» Major home cleanup and gutting

» Neighborhood & public park cleanup
» Organizing donations and supplies at distribution centers

HOW YOU CAN HELP
Humanity First continues to support the large number of displaced victims weeks after Hurricane Sandy devastated their homes and lives. We request your continued support through financial contributions, as we implement long term community rebuilding projects.
